California Association of School Psychologists Teams with Fagen Friedman & Fulfrost LLP to Deliver Online Professional Development Statewide

The California Association of School Psychologists (CASP), based in Sacramento, is teaming with the public education law firm of Fagen Friedman & Fulfrost LLP to deliver quarterly webinars on current and emerging trends in education to its 3,000 members.

"This is an exciting partnership," said Suzanne Fisher, Executive Director. "One of the preeminent education law firms in the state will deliver free legal advice on best practices across all aspects of psychological services for practitioners dealing with children of special needs, and other legally sensitive topics."

The first webinar will be delivered on February 19 by Anne M. Sherlock, an attorney based in Fagen Friedman & Fulfrost's Sacramento office, who will walk the participants through the critical steps for successfully developing legally compliant, student-focused Individualized Education Programs (IEPs.)

CASP is located at 1020 12th Street, Suite 200, Sacramento, CA 95829. Information about the webinars can be found at www.casponline.org or 916 444 1595
